IQAC, Government Degree College Kulgam

[kulgamprincipal@gmail.com]

Government Degree College, Kulgam, is dedicated to diversity, equity, and inclusion in order to improve the learning environment and achieve social justice. Campus homogeneity is reduced through raising cultural awareness, reducing prejudice, encouraging collaboration, and equipping students for work in a congenial environment. The goal of the Government Degree College, Kulgam is to establish a friendly environment where everyone, regardless of aptitude, financial status, gender, ethnicity, or cultural background, has an equal opportunity to succeed. The college cherishes the fact that marginalized students are acknowledged, respected, and have rewarding college experiences. It also attempts to increase these students' graduation rate. The college represents marginalized populations in leadership positions and provides possibilities for experiences and careers that students from underrepresented communities might not have had access to otherwise. The college supports reading literature produced by authors from many origins and/or points of view and fosters a diversity of opinions on every course topic rather than focusing on just one. Diversity in the faculty is also encouraged by the college in order to improve student retention and benefit students from underrepresented groups.

The college runs several schemes for students from disadvantaged backgrounds and aspires to provide more equitable higher education. The college creates mentorship programs to provide underprivileged students—especially those who are first-generation college students—with emotional and social support. It also offers financial aid to underprivileged students through scholarships and equity audits, which reveal gaps in student achievement, degree completion, and admission to popular fields like business administration, computer science, and information technology.

The college fosters an environment where students may flourish and make a positive contribution to society by implementing inclusive practices like equal chances, accessible infrastructure, and awareness activities. The college celebrates diversity, equity, and inclusivity with a variety of programs and events, including workshops on financial literacy, seminars on entrepreneurship development, career opportunities, contests for creative writing and slogan writing, spiritual gatherings, competitions for making reels, seminars on gender equality and legal rights, sessions on self-employment schemes, health audits, auditions for acting, singing, music, and miming, National Youth Day and International Yoga Day.

Students and staff at Government Degree College are genuinely made aware of their obligations as Indian citizens. The institution teaches Political Science as a Major Course and collaborates with partners to organize Special Camps for Special Summary Revision of Photo-Electoral Rolls in order to encourage greater participation for a stronger democracy and the kind of open-mindedness required for people to become aware citizens, as the majority of college students are first-time voters.

The college hosts several events each year, including flag hoisting ceremonies on Independence Day and flag unfurling ceremonies on Republic Day. Furthermore, the college pays rich tributes and honours the sacrifices made by the brave souls. It also arranges events like the Rashtriya Ekta Diwas, Samvidhan Divas, and Neighbourhood Youth Parliament. Furthermore, it organizes campaigns for Har Ghar Tiranga, including the Tiranga Distribution, Freedom Run, and Tiranga Rally. Renowned scholars and patriotic citizens give talks at those events, emphasizing to the students and staff the importance of their constitutional rights as well as their obligations as true Indian citizens.

In commemoration of the country's path toward freedom and advancement, Government Degree College, Kulgam enthusiastically participated in and celebrated the 75-week great celebrations of Azadi Ka Amrit Mahotsav to mark 75 years of Independence, Meri Mati Mera Desh, a unifying celebration of India's soil and courage and Viksit Bharat.

The event started at 11:00 am and was held in the College Conference Hall. The event witnessed the participation of around 70 NSS volunteers besides members from the faculty, non teaching staff and students from various departments. The seminar was aimed at spreading awareness regarding the rights of women and promote gender equality. The proceedings of the event were formally conducted by NSS Programme Officer, Dr Safer Ahmed Bhat, who formally welcomed the guests and brought home the importance of theme. The chief guest on the occasion, Worthy Principal of the College Prof (Dr.) Manzoor Ahmad Lone presented the introductory remarks and formally inaugurated the proceedings of the seminar. He highlighted the need for acknowledging the achievements and contributions of women in different fields and referred to numerous challenges that come in the way of Gender Sensitisation and the legal rights of women thereof. It was suggested that there was an urgent need for greater awareness to help curb crimes against women.

Resource persons from the Special Cell for Women, Kulgam broadly deliberated on Gender Sensitisation and the legal rights of women. The speakers, Razia Malik and Saima Shah, highlighted the importance of Gender equality in 21st Century and defined gender equality as the very heart of human rights and United Nations values. It was inferred that despite much progress made in securing women's rights globally, millions of women and girls continued to experience discrimination and violence, being denied of their equality, dignity and autonomy, and even a life. This discrimination and violence against women and girls, deeply rooted in the fabric of societies, was persistent and systematic. Talking about the legal perspective, it was suggested that some good practices that have increased women's access to justice have been so-called one-stop shops. They integrate services and offer Women victims everything from health care and counselling to legal aid and collection of evidence in one place, reducing barriers and cost. Furthermore, the resource persons highlighted the services of Special Cell for Women in

“ONLINE EDUCATION:

14TH OF JUNE 2021

CONCEPT NOTE

Higher Education has been significantly impacted by the coming of the internet age. The use of internet in education has witnessed a new pace during the COVID-19 pandemic, as it became the only alternative of imparting education. E-learning systems provide comprehensive mechanisms for managing the presentation of curriculum and content, allowing instructors and students to interact synchronously and asynchronously from any part of the world. Students can attend high quality institutions, receiving accredited and recognized qualifications without leaving the comfort of their own home. However, the presence of internet divide and discrimination in technology accessibility in our societies has raised certain serious questions be it e-education accessibility or its reach becomes limited to only privileged sections of society. Can e-education complement 'catch all' or it will de-universalize the fundamental right of education?. While focusing on the e-learning, we must also consider the issues of medical and social disabilities in our societies in the form of person's physical or mental limitation, impairments in the form of prejudice, inaccessible design, policies of exclusion in modern societies.
