EVENT CONCEPT:

Environment day is celebrated worldwide on 5th June, to raise the awareness for the protection of the environment. Each year the theme of the day marks the importance of environment. This year (2020) UNEP has decided the theme for environment day as “Celebrate Biodiversity”. Biodiversity provides the basic necessities of the life and maintenance of ecological balance besides having immense values viz. Commercial, Ecological, Social and Aesthetic values. However due to various threats posed by the human activities, there happens a loss of biodiversity which in turn disrupts the ecological balance and human health to a greater extent. So it is time to wake up to take notice and raise voices for conservation of biodiversity. Developing an attitude among the students that aims at conserving the holistic environment by organising such programmes will definitely lead us towards sustainable earth.

EVENT CONCEPT:

Environment day is celebrated worldwide on 5th June, to raise the awareness for the protection of the environment. Each year the theme of the day marks the importance of environment. This year (2020) UNEP has decided the theme for environment day as "Celebrate Biodiversity". Biodiversity provides the basic necessities of the life and maintenance of ecological balance besides having immense values viz. Commercial, Ecological, Social and Aesthetic values. However due to various threats posed by the human activities, there happens a loss of biodiversity which in turn disrupts the ecological balance and human health to a greater extent. So it is time to wake up to take notice and raise voices for conservation of biodiversity. Developing an attitude among the students that aims at conserving the holistic environment by organising such programmes will definitely lead us towards sustainable earth.
