On July 17, 2024, the National Service Scheme (NSS) volunteers of Government Degree College Kulgam organized an outreach programme at Sahoo Sochan, coinciding with the sacred day of Ashrooa. Under the guidance of Program Officer Dr. Rayees Ahmad Rather, the NSS volunteers served refreshments and assisted the elderly and children who had gathered for the event. Their efforts highlighted the college's commitment to community service and social welfare.

Principal Prof. Dr. Ezaz Hussain Rizvi, who consistently encourages and arranges community outreach programs, commended the volunteers for their dedication. He emphasized the importance of cultural and religious unity and the college's role in fostering such values. Dr. Ezaz Hussain Rizvi's unwavering support and encouragement have been instrumental in promoting harmony and understanding within the community. His leadership ensures that the college actively engages in initiatives that benefit the local population and demonstrate social responsibility.

This event showcased the diverse backgrounds of the college and local community, promoting harmony and understanding. The outreach programme fostered a sense of belonging and strengthened the bond between the college and the local population. The community expressed their appreciation, reinforcing the college's role as a responsible and engaged institution.
